Wal-Mart Announces $27,750 in Donations to Middle Island Community

-- Support totals more than $10 million in New York, and $374,790 on Long Island --

Middle Island, NY –March 18, 2008 – Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. announced today that the company has contributed more than $27,750 to support groups and initiatives in the Middle Island community for 2007. Philanthropic support in the state of New York totaled more than $10 million in 2007 with $374,790 being contributed to Long Island communities. In total, Wal-Mart contributed more than 470 million supporting its 4,000-plus U.S.-based communities.

“Wal-Mart is committed to being a good neighbor and valuable member of the Middle Island community,” said Steven V. Restivo, Director of Corporate Affairs – Northeast Region. “We have been involved with many community-based initiatives in Middle Island, and look forward to forging even greater relationships in the future.”

Corporate giving at Wal-Mart is governed by a philosophy that was instituted by the company’s founder, the late Sam Walton: operate globally and give back locally. The majority of the company’s giving occurs at the local level as each Wal-Mart and Sam’s Club location is empowered to support the issues and causes that are important to their neighborhoods.

Wal-Mart has helped fund several projects in Middle Island over the course of 2007 some of which include:

- Suffolk Independent Living Organization
- Middle Island Volunteer Fire Department
- Brookhaven Women’s and Youth Services Inc.
- Longwood Middle School
- Suffolk County Girl Scout Troops; 448, 839, 843, 927, 1042, 1326, 1648, 1862
- Middle Island Ambulance Co.
- Autism Speaks Inc.

“Through these donations we will continue to play an integral role in our local communities. Wal-Mart understands the importance of investing in the communities where our customers and associates live and work,” said Restivo. “Our retail divisions work closely with our customers to support schools, food banks, youth programs, and non-profit groups in their local communities. We are glad to be in a position to make a real difference. This is one way that Wal-Mart can give back to the people and neighborhoods that have given us so much.”

Last year Wal-Mart was recognized by the Chronicle of Philanthropy as the largest corporate cash contributor in America. Charitable contributions from Wal-Mart support a variety of causes and issues in the areas of education, the environment, health and human services, civic and community groups and culture and the arts.

Volunteering is also a key component of Wal-Mart's corporate giving philosophy. Associates are strongly encouraged to become involved in organizations that make a positive difference in the local quality of life, and Wal-Mart gives grants to qualifying organizations in recognition of associate volunteer hours. Last year, associates donated more than 1 million volunteer hours resulting in $5 million in grants to the organizations supported through volunteer efforts.

Recipients are selected for the significant impact the projects will have in their local communities. Charitable organizations interested in receiving support from the Wal-Mart and Sam's Club Foundation are advised to visit their local Wal-Mart store, Neighborhood Market or Sam's Club location.
